

Guide Your Student

- Is studying in there room not working out?
- Do they use all materials given by the professor?
- Are they using the tutoring service?
- How many hours do they put into work?

Choices Are Available for All Bloomsburg Students!

Using Tutoring Services?

The tutoring service is in the Student Service Center on the bottom floor. This center is another available resource for students to receive the help they may need outside the class and even outside of office ours of the professor. This is a helpful service to the students because they meet once a week for an hour at most and is a way to explain the material and slow it down for a subject that they may need extra help in. Dont be ashamed its great if your student gets this help!

How Many Hours Do They Put Into Schoolwork?

Studies show that the average student puts in at least 2 hours a day into class work or studying. Each student decides what is the right amount for him or her, but if they arent reaching the grades that they want to then they should try out studying the material some more.

Choices!

All of these resources are available for the student and it is their choice to take advantage of them. If you think that your student needs more of a boost in a subject, try and tell them about all the opportunities that they have on campus, right at their finger tips that can help them better their studies. Do the right thing and make the right choice!
